

Facility planning process
Summary for director search
7-21-2023

Oshkosh Public Library has embarked on a process to create a master facility plan for our spacious and architecturally grand building that improves space utilization and better meets patron needs. An initial space audit has been completed which suggests strategies for creating engaging and flexible spaces; improving navigation; and displaying materials in ways that drive discovery and circulation.

The objective is to make the library easier to use and to increase visits, circulation and discovery. The ultimate goal is to make the Oshkosh Public Library the preferred destination to answer the question “What should I read/see/watch/do next?”

Because the library is in the earliest stages of the facility planning process a new director will have ample opportunity to guide its development and positively influence the results.
